Mr. Loy Eyster, of Massachusetts, was in Bethel on business last week.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Hazleton next Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Fisher of the Bailey Music Rooms, Berlin, was in town last week.

Mrs. Churchill of West Paris is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Davis Lovejoy.

Mrs. J. F. Coolidge has been ill the past week with the grippe and tonsillitis.

Mrs. C. S. Stetson of Green spent Sunday with her brother, Fred M. Wood.

Mrs. Berry of West Paris visited her sister, Mrs. Fannie Blaine Lovejoy last Tuesday.

Mrs. John B. Chapman is confined to her bed as the result of a fall received Sunday night.

Miss Amelia Grover, who has been suffering with erysipelas the past four weeks, is improving.

Mrs. Robertson of Gorham, N. H., has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Robertson.

Mr. George Burham of South Paris was in town Thursday to attend the piano recital on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Fred Kimball and son, Vernon, of Portland, are visiting her father, Mr. Jerome Sanborn, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burham of South Paris were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ellen Burbank last week.

Mrs. Churchill of West Paris is spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Blaine Lovejoy.

Mr. Maynard Moore of Hastings was in the village last Friday and took much interest in looking over the News plant.

Mrs. A. S. Bear has a very nice pair of El Sable skin, 3 years old, that weigh 2000 pounds. $200 has been refused for one of them.

Mr. Arthur Richardson, who went to the Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary last week for treatment of tonsillitis, is improving and hopes to be able to return home soon.

The farmers' telephone instrument at the Grand Trunk Station has been changed from the baggage room to the agent's office, where it can be given more attention and better service insured.

Last Thursday was one of the coldest days Bethel has seen for years. At some points the mercury reached 35 below zero. Owing to the excessive cold no school was had at the brick building.

L. A. Hall has a stable full of horses and coils that he is handling; among them is a black 3 year old filly called El Injane, a very pretty one and nice galloper. She belongs to F. L. Edwards, who says he will give $200 for one that will make her.

The Festival Chorus was most hospitably received last evening by Judge and Mrs. Herrick at their home. A most profitable evening was spent getting bearing in the most fascinating music imaginable. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Straw on Broad street.

Miss Belle Bean of East Bethel was taken suddenly ill of appendicitis Saturday evening and Monday afternoon the body was submitted to an operation performed by Dr. Oaks of Lewiston, assisted by Dr. Wright, and is doing as well as possible. Miss Cushing, a hospital nurse from Lewiston, is caring for her.

The Columbian Club will meet with Mrs. John Philbrook Friday, Jan. 25th.

Miss Daisy Dixon was the guest of Mrs. S. E. Byrd of Gorham, N. H., Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Earle Gibson is visiting at his old home after several years absence in the West.

DEATH OF MISS SARA FARWELL.

The people of the town were saddened last Sunday morning to learn of the death of Miss Sara Farwell at her home at Middle Intervale.

Miss Farwell had an attack of measles in the late fall from which she recovered sufficient to resume her work at the Bethel Manufacturing Company plant, but took a severe cold which resulted in quick consumption. While her friends have felt for several weeks that there was no possible chance for her recovery, yet she was hopeful and filled with courage to the last.

Miss Farwell was one, who, by her plain unmistakable genuineness, her unassuming personality and her loyalty to her friends, endeared herself to all who knew her, and this early separation from those who had known her but to love and prize her, removes a link from friendship's chain which will long be missed and mourned.

As a member of the Y. P. C. U. of which she had been president for the past year and a half, she was ready ever and always to do anything and everything within her power to advance the cause in which her heart truly bade her labor, and in that society as perhaps in no other circle, she leaves a vacant place.

The funeral occurs at her late home this afternoon, Rev. C. M. Gleason, officiating.

PIANO RECITAL.

The pupils of Mrs. George I. Burnham of South Paris gave a recital at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bates on Mechanic street last Thursday evening. A large number of the parents and friends were present. It was regretted that some of the pupils were unable to be present and take part in the recital. Following is the program:

Duet, Joyous Return, Karola.

Evening by the Sea, Edith Marsden.

Merry Companions, Euglemann.

Hazel Bates, Hazel Bates.

The Little Prince Waltz, Krogman.

Francis Mills, Francis Mills.

Going Home, Marion Littlehale.

Primrose Dance, Krogman.

Serenade, Nocturne, Abner.

March, Impromptu, Low.

Roland Marsden, Edith Marsden.

Cathedral Echoes, Head.

Maria, Miss Florence Springer.

March of the Guards, Duelle.

Holero, Miss Elva Kendall.

Merry Moments, Polka, Duelle.

Song of the Sea Shell, Krogman.

Angel's Lullaby, Krogman.

Loch Lomond, Krogman.

The Chatter, Hazel Bates.

Cradle Song, Marion Littlehale.

The Little Patriot March, Krogman.

The Garden Party, Krogman.

Vesper Bell, Krogman.

Nocturne, Roland Marsden.

Duet, Miss Davis.

Mrs. Burnham, Miss Davis.

Every number was well rendered and enthusiastically applauded, and it was surprising to see the proficiency with which the younger members of the class rendered their numbers. It was a very pleasant recital and reflects much credit on the teacher, Mrs. Burnham.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Burnham's gracious presence as she mingled among the guests added much to the evening's pleasure. Many thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Bates for so kindly opening their pleasant home for this occasion, and it is hoped that the class will give another recital in the spring.

STATIONERY SALE.

My recent inventory has revealed many small lots of stationery that I wish to close out at once. Much of it is fine paper but just a small quantity left, while some is not quite latest style but good paper never the loss.

To close it all out at once I have marked it at about one-half of the regular price.

Lot No. 1.

Quire of paper and bunch of envelopes to match, were from 24c to 30c, now 15c.

Lot No. 2.

Odd envelopes, many shapes, were 8c to 15c, now your choice at 5c a bunch.

Lot No. 3.

Odd lots of paper, were from 8c to 15c quire marked down to c.

It will pay you to buy a year's supply at the above prices.

BUSINESS POINTERS.

Business Readers will be published in this column at eight cents per line, reckoning seven words to the line.

I saw it among the Business Pointers.

Stationery Sale at King's; read his advertisement.

15c paper or envelopes only 5c at King's.

Some new embroidered linen collars at King's at 25c.

THURSDAY NIGHT.

Where are you bound for, fellows all? To the Congregational dining hall.

What is there great in these feasting events?

"A one dollar banquet, for thirty-five cents."

What shall we see there, what wonderful feast?

"Men carrying, and warring, and handing out meat."

Can we fellows go too, and sample the hash?

"You may, if each one has the requisite cash."

THURSDAY NIGHT.

Where are you going, my pretty maid?

"I'm going to the banquet, sir," she said.

May I go with you, my pretty maid?

"If you'll pay for my ticket, sir," she said.

We forgot to mention that with the other fruit, there will be pairs at each table. Speak up early gentlemen, in order that you may get the other half to your pair. Now girls, say yes! Delays are dangerous!

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Next Sunday morning the sermon theme will be "A Man's Religion."

Sunday school at 12 m. Lesson, "The Call of Moses." Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:45 p. m. Topic, "Home Missions. The progress of the Indian."

This topic followed by the third talk of the series on, "The Evolution of Human History." "The Deluge."

A cordial invitation to all.

BASKET BALL.

Lewiston Amalgamated Defeated by Gould's Academy in score 17 to 10.

Last Friday night saw an interesting and lively basket ball game at the G. A. gymnasium, between the Gould's Academy team and the team from Lewiston which called itself the Lewiston Amalgamated. We said the game was interesting and it was. We also said it was lively and it certainly was; so lively that it merged a bit into roughness. In fact it was a bit too rough to be fully appreciated.

It may not lack in justice to the visiting team to say that they came prepared to win an easy victory, and when they discovered that they were up against a different proposition than they had supposed, they were inclined to resort to roughness and at times to little measures to accomplish their purpose. Roughness, however, counted for naught. The home team was equal to all emergencies and showed themselves superior to the Amalgamated and carried off the honors in a score of 17 to 10.

The G. A. team put up the best game that they have ever played in Bethel. Much credit for their ability to do this is due to the efficient work of their coach, Mr. Oscar B. Peterson, of Colby, who has trained the team for the past few weeks. The team is now in good trim to meet the different teams in the field and the public will look forward to some interesting games.

Next Friday night they go to Gorham to play the return game with Gorham High School and we would suggest that they would be delighted to have a goodly number of friends accompany them. A party ticket will be secured making the rate a low one and we hope that the lovers of good basket ball will accompany the boys. One week from Friday night, or Feb. 1st, they play the Lewiston Academy team in Bethel. The Lewiston team is one of the best in the state and this game will be an interesting one. Standing room should be at a premium at the "Gym" on Friday evening, Feb. 1st.

The lineup for the Friday night game was as follows:

AMALGAMATED. GOULD'S.
Frazier, r. f., L. G. Hamlin
Brown, l. f., F. G. Vail
Johnson, c., C. Frazier
Darnall, r. c., L. L. King
Blanchard, l. c., C. F. Robertson

SCORE.
McCollough, Kears, Twaddle
Score: Gould's, 17; Amalgamated, 10. Goals from field: Gould's, King 2, Vail 1, Frazier 1; Amalgamated, Frazier 2, Johnson 1. Goals from foul: Gould's, King 1; Amalgamated, McCollough 4. Time, two 20 minute halves.

THE COLUMBIAN CLUB.
The ladies of the Columbian Club met with Mrs. Gehring on Friday, Jan. 11th. After studying the Fra Angelico and other photographs hanging on the walls, the club settled down for work. The thought evoking quotations were first skillfully managed by Mrs. Gehring, as there was no report on account of the absence of the secretary, and then Mrs. Gehring took up the spiritual, ethereal art life of Fra Angelico, and with other ladies, (who had visited the studios of San Mateo,) the story of his life and the beauty of his pure conceptions of the religious life were discussed.
In rather short contrast were the rich, but mundane ideals of Jan Van Eyck, whose masterpiece Mrs. Gehring studied last May in the Louvre, thus enabling her to add a touch of freshness to the writer's pen delineations in the book from which the study was taken.
Naples, Parapilipo, Pompeii, and Capri were chatted over in the short time left, while bits of the great Art Museum's treasures excavated from Pompeii were dwelt upon far too hastily for the immense subject, and the Blue Grotto was entered through the eyes of imagination.
The next lesson will be upon Alessandro Botticelli and Hans Memling, the Italian and Flemish schools. These two painters are very much admired by the present school of artists, and the lesson will be vividly interesting. A brief quiz upon Angelico and Van Eyck will open the lesson. No preparation is necessary as open books are allowed. The club will skirt the southern shores of Italy, through the Lucca to Anagni, passing before the solemn Greek temple of Paestum, B. C. and then will set its face towards the Orient, and that wonderful land of Egypt.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Evening Review—A Column Dedicated to Their Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

The Word Spoken in Season
By Nixon Waterman in Village Life.
There are hearts about us all the while
Bowed down with hidden anguish,
And underneath the bravest smile
A burdened soul may languish.
To weary spirits, bound and bruised,
May gracious words be spoken
"Or ever the silver cord be loosed,
Or the golden bowl be broken."

Comes never a day so dark and drear,
Our fleeting years to sadden,
But kindly words of strength and cheer
Can strangely bless and gladden.
With all our ways let there be fused
Love's sweet and tender token
"Or ever the silver cord be loosed,
Or the golden bowl be broken."

When we stand in the hushed and
hallowed place,
By the dust of one deep-sleeping,
And look on the peaceful spirit face,
Our hearts are wrung with weeping;
Are wrong for the words we never used,
For the love we should have spoken
"Or ever the silver cord be loosed,
Or the golden bowl be broken."

Unhappy poverty is not so bad as unhappy love.

Marrying without love is like building without mortar.

There is enough happiness in sight,
if you could get it.

Kindness is the sunshine in which virtue grows.

No one was ever an angel by simply wanting to be one.

Keep your word with a child as you would with a banker.

The boy who is courteous towards other boys' sisters, but neglects his own, is only a gentleman on the outside. The girl whose tones are soft and kind in company, but tart and disagreeable at home, may pass for a time
as a lady, but those who know her best see that she is only adorned on the surface.

There is nothing so healthful in this world as a cheerful heart and a disposition to look on the rosy side of everything. Trouble is not a physical ailment, but a mental condition. It is hard on the brain, hard on the body and hard on your friends. A clear conscience, a brave heart, and a healthy liver means a long and happy life. It is the mistake of the age to worry and fret over things that cannot be realized.
Laugh at trouble and it vanishes.

Never deceive your children. If there is something they should not know, tell them so but do not tell them
a falsehood, for sooner or later they will find you out. Children look upon their parents as models on which to form themselves, and when a child learns that its mother has deceived it,
something is lost forever from its nature. The keen edge of virtue is a trifle dull, a life is never again so terrible a thing in his eye when he finds that his mother's lips have uttered
an untruth to him.

There comes times to us when we don't know which way to turn, or which way to look for aid. No man or woman lives to middle age without going through some hard places. Bitter experience comes to the heart. Dear ones are taken away. Riches are dispersed. The trusted prove unworthy of confidence, and the soul one is like a ship beaten by the wind and tossed by the waves. But there is only one way to look. Look up. There far above the black clouds forever shines the blue. There, sometimes out of sight, but inexpressibly near to the frail one that seeks His help, is the Friend who is ever gracious. When we are hedged in and go groping in the dark wilderness of despair, His angels are ever ready to take you by the hand and lead you out.

All hail to the New Year! What gifts will be brought! Far richer than any preceding year in the vast wealth of invention and discovery and achievement beset by the glorious years that have passed, what promise is afforded that the world will be wiser and better for his coming! What has been done in the year just past is the promise and prophecy of better things
to come in the year at whose portals we stand. We know not what the new year may bring forth, but we know that of what was gained for mankind
in the one that is just finishing its course, nothing will be lost that is fit to survive. It will keep on adding to the domain of human knowledge in the domain of man over the forces of nature.

Truly, there is no pause in the perpetuation of force or in the operation of the great law of development. All the achievements of the past are but the elementary beginnings of the great

NATURAL BEAUTY.

The Care of the Hands. Part II.

By M. Elizabeth Roberts.

It is within the power of every woman to become her own manicurist,
but if you know nothing whatever
about the art, you will save time, trouble and mistakes by availing yourself of the services of a reliable professional for a few times. Then you will have all confidence to follow the advice I will give.

Special care should be bestowed upon the nails, attention should be given them at least once a week. A few very simple implements only, are necessary. Before manicuring the nails, they should be softened, by holding the finger tips in hot soapy water,
in which a few drops of benzoin have been added; this prevents the nails
from cracking when you use the file
for decreasing the length of the nails
and shaping them.

After soaking the nails for a few moments, use a smooth orange stick for cleaning them and also for pressing down the cuticle around the nails.
You must treat the cuticle all around the nail very gently. Use a small slender file for filing the nails; never cut them when it can be avoided.
Cutting hardens the nails and destroys the flexibility which is their real beauty. You will want a pair of cuticle scissors to cut away any loose cuticle (or hangnails), but never cut the scarf skin around the nails, for it only hardens the skin and promotes the growth of hangnails. Never bite or pull the hangnails; cut them gently
with the cuticle scissors.

After long neglect, it is some time before the scarf skin or epidermis can be trained to remain in place and show
the pearly hue of the cuticle (or half moon)
which is considered the crowning beauty of the nail.

The growth of nails is more rapid in children than in adults. They grow more rapidly in summer than in winter, so that the same finger nail that is renewed in one hundred and thirty-two days in the winter time, requires only one hundred and sixteen days in the summer. The increase in length of the nails on the right hand is more rapid than on the left. It also differs for the different fingers, and in order, corresponding with the length of the fingers.

The finger nails of a person is good health grow at the rate of one sixteenth of an inch during one week, (this seems exaggerated, but has been proved), but during illness or after an accident or during times of mental depression or prostrating conditions, this growth is not only retarded, but the thickness of the nail is also affected. The slightest illness will leave an indelible mark on the nails which can be easily detected as the nail grows out. If a person has a sudden attack of illness, such as acute rheumatism, or any acute fever which raises the temperature up to 104 or 105 degrees within two or three hours,
the growth and thickness of the nail
will be affected from the turning point of illness and will not resume its natural growth and thickness until the person regains health. All this teaches us how to appreciate (or it should teach us) the exquisite and marvelous works of nature.

When we stop to think, we realize the importance of the nails which protect the sensitive finger tips from all harsh contact, besides being a beautiful adornment to the fingers. Never clean the nails with sharp pointed implements, such as a pen knife, hair pin or common pin, but always use the orange stick and if there should be any stains under the nails or around them, put a little lemon juice on the orange stick after twisting some absorbent cotton tight around the orange stick, then clean under the nails and all around them.

A great many of the blanches that you get in the stores contain acids and all acids do not agree with every skin.
Be on the safe side by using the lemon juice.

For polishing the nails use a little cold cream first, rubbing it on the nail,
and then rub vigorously with the side of the opposite hand, then put on a little polishing powder and polish gently. Avoid too high a polish, as it is detrimental and considered vulgar.

If the nails are brittle, use a little cold cream on them every night; this will soften them wonderfully and also improve the finger. Remember that the hands are likely to become bony,
the joints swelling and enlarging, because the circulation is torpid; the skin also is affected, as it gradually becomes yellow and has a tendency to wrinkle.

Do not be discouraged if your nails
are in bad condition or if your hands are rough or red; you can improve every condition by following the advice I have given, and make them soft,
smooth and white.

BOXES ARE WORTH SAVING.

Many Uses to Which Old Paintboxes Can Be Put.

The provident woman keeps her paintboxes, if she can find a shelf where they can be stored for future use.

So many merchants deliver goods in boxes now, in place of the easily torn wrapping paper, that almost any size is always on hand. If broken, keep the best pieces; their use will be worth while noting. When baking cookies, clean sheets of pasteboard
from such boxes are better to cool
the thin hot cakes; when frying potatoes, try putting a round piece of pasteboard in the bottom of a plate
in the mouth of the oven to absorb any remaining grease as the potatoes are skinned out and placed on the plate.

CONCEALING ONION IN SALAD.

Indispensable Flavoring Should Never Be Too Pronounced.

Onion is indispensable to a good salad, but its presence should never be suspected. The best way to conceal it is to rub the sides of the dish with a section of an onion, and not to put any onion in the salad at all.

Another way is to use half a teaspoonful of onion juice in the salad dressing. This is for the French dressing of oil and vinegar, salt and pepper.
The juice is obtained by grating the onion. It is well to get a small grater for this purpose, as the onion will cling to it. Grate the juice into a saucer and use no more than a half teaspoonful to a small salad.

Chives, chopped very fine and sprinkled in the salad, are an excellent substitute for onions.

USES FOR COLD FISH.

Appetizing Dish That May Be Prepared from Left-Over Materials.

The Sauce.—Dissolve a pint of milk in a double boiler. Drop in a sprig of parsley. Let boil ten or fifteen minutes, so that the milk will be well flavored. Blend a tablespoonful of flour with a tablespoonful of butter. Add this to the milk.

Remove the milk from the stove
and stir into it the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Salt and pepper to taste. The sauce should be of the thickness of cream.

The Fish.—Take two forks and break the fish apart. Spread a layer of fish in a baking or pudding dish and strain the sauce over it. On top sprinkle bread crumbs that have been rolled in melted butter. Put in hot oven for 15 or 20 minutes.

fully followed.

TAKE NO CHANCES.

How the Grand Trunk Takes Care of the Passenger Trains.

In these days of tremendous loss of life on the great railways, a little information as to how the Grand Trunk looks after the lives of passengers who entrust their safety into the company's keeping when they travel will be of interest.

On this Atlantic division of the road, under the standard rules, eastbound passenger trains have the right of track over westbound trains of the same class and of course over all trains of inferior class. Train No. 2, eastbound, which is due to meet train No. 5, westbound, at Bryant's Pond, would have the right to leave Bryant's Pond and proceed to the next station if No. 5 was not at Bryant's Pond when it was time for No. 2 to leave. The crew of No. 5 understands that if it cannot make the regular meeting point before No. 2 is due to leave it, they must wait for No. 2 at the next station below (West Paris) or else flag themselves into Bryant's Pond.

But, on time or not, each of these train crews gets crossing orders every week day, No. 2 on arrival at Gorham and No. 5 on arrival at West Paris. While under the rules in force this might seem unnecessary, it is an extra precaution taken to insure the safety of the passengers.

The same thing is done with trains 6 and 3, whose regular meeting point is Oxford.

The "Bachelor Girl."

"Bachelor girl" is said to be displacing "old maid" in current speech. Ben Johnson used the word "bachelor" to mean a single woman. In the old French "bachellette" meant a young and pretty girl, especially if she had a lover. Etymology has nothing to say against a feminine "bachelor," since the word seems to be the late Latin "baccalarius," a farm servant, or more literally a cowherd (baccar, meaning cow), and "baccalarius" had a feminine "baccalarius."

Animals That Shed Tears.

The shedding of tears from grief has been noticed among the higher animals. Darwin reports that "the Indian elephant is known sometimes to weep—when captured it sank to utter prostration, uttering choked cries with tears trickling down the cheeks." Darwin also reports that one species of monkey is known to weep copious drafts.

Parade.

"What not only do wicked ceases from trouble, but do weary men at rest, but what?" here Parson Crinklow lowered his voice to a hoarse whisper, while he leaned far over the pulpit to look his sweetest look full in the face, "day has for stop in the middle of de collection to go an' empty de box!"—Tuck.

No Ingenuity in Names.

It is said by James Herbert Smith, an authority on nomenclature, that two-thirds of the children of England, Scotland and Ireland bear only 35 names between them. Of every 100,000 children in Great Britain the following are the six most popular names: Mary, William, John, Elizabeth, Thomas and George.

FOR THE IDEAL PIE

TOOTHsome DELICACY THAT IS BELOVED BY ALL.

Requisites for Success Are Simple, But They Must Be Carefully Remembered—Knack of the Thing Is What Counts.

The pie belt is not restricted to New England alone. Ask the minor "bachelors" in the lonely camp in the Rockies or Sierras, the soldier and sailor boys in distant posts or alien waters, the storm-stayed traveler, 20 miles from a lemon or anything else eatable, what they want most for their dinner, and ten chances to one "a big piece of mother's home-made pie" heads the list of mouth-watering possibilities.

But there are pies and pies, ranging from guinea percha crusts with rapid, tasteless interiors, to a delicate, flaky, melt-in-your-mouth pie exterior, clasping in tender embrace ambrosia.

Which are yours?

Pie makers are born, but they can also be made.

The first requisite is brains, then a light, quick touch and judgment in seasoning. In the evolution of the ideal pie no great array of implements is required. Glass and marble boards are all right, but just as excellent results may be achieved with a fine hardwood molding board, a thick canvas dredged with flour or even a clean, smooth sheet of manila paper spread smoothly on an ordinary kitchen table. So also with the rolling pin. It is the touch and knack of handling that count—whether the pin be of glass, hardwood or a tall, smooth bottle.

For the shortening half butter from which the buttermilk has been well worked out, and lard that has been melted and tried out in the old-fashioned way, instead of being pressed, is considered best, though clarified drippings of beef, chicken, or pork can all be utilized.

In making the plain, every-day crust, allow for each pie one cup sifted flour (sifted), a scant half-cup shortening, a saltspoonful each salt and baking powder and cold water to mix stiff. Measure lard and butter and set in a cold place until hard. Mix flour, salt and baking powder, then cut in the lard. Wet with cold water to a stiff dough, toss on the floured board and pat down to about half an inch in thickness.

Roll out, put the butter on the paste in little dabs here and there; dredge lightly with flour; roll over and over; turn half round; pat out and roll again. Then roll over and over like a jelly roll and divide in the middle. Turn each piece over on end, so that the seams of pastry are on top, and if there is time set in the ice chest until hard and chilled. Roll to fit the pie plate, with an inch to spare, as paste shrinks when taken from the board.

Fold the crust over, lift up quickly and lay in the tin. Press down in the center so there need be no air bubbles, and let the edge of the crust come just to the edge of the plate. Brush the rim with cold water, and if the pie is a fruit or very juicy compound, the white of an egg brushed over the under crust will prevent seeping. Roll out some of the paste into a strip a good half inch in width and place on the rim again before putting on the upper crust, which should be a little larger than the plate, and have a cut in the center to allow for the escape of steam. Press closely but lightly together and push the two crusts away from the edge of the plate, which gives them a chance to expand.

Success in Ironing Shirts.

Any of the following named substances when put into boiled starch will help to make the garment iron smoothly and take a gloss. Borax, sugar, salt, wax, lard, turpentine, spermacelli. The shirt front is starched with hot boiled starch in which there have been mixed one or more of the above ingredients. It is dried, and then dipped in this raw starch. After a few hours it is ironed. A thin piece of muslin is placed between the starched surface and the iron. After the shirt front has been ironed smooth it is rubbed with a damp cloth, and then polished with an iron specially made for this purpose. There must be a great deal of pressure used on the polishing iron, and practice is required to do this work well. Place a hard, smooth board under the shirt front when polishing. Many men object to the highly-polished surface, preferring the dull one.

Hard Sauce.

Put into a warm bowl one-quarter cup butter and one-half cup powdered sugar. Mix with a wooden spoon or spatula, beating hard for 15 minutes. Flavor with one-half tablespoonful lemon, vanilla or a little nutmeg or powdered mace, as preferred, beat a little longer, pack smoothly on a small plate or on lightly in a fancy dish, and set on ice for half an hour.

A pleasant change is to add a tablespoonful currant jelly after creaming the butter and sugar, then beat light.

Diamond Window Panes.

Many people who live in the modern antique style of house find it difficult to see clearly and polish the diamond window panes. The following method of doing so will be found to answer. Stir a little kerosene into warm water, soak a pad of newspaper in it, and squeeze almost dry; clean the pane with this, wipe with a soft cloth, and then polish with a pad of dry newspaper.

Keep Your Blood Pure.

No one can be happy, light-hearted and healthy with a body full of blood that cannot do its duty to every part because of its impurity; therefore, the first and most important work in hand is to purify the blood so that every organ will get the full benefit of a healthy circulation. There is no remedy we know of so good as that old family remedy, Dr. King's Pills. Each pill contains one grain of the exact extract of sennaparis. Blended with two grains of a combination of pure and mild vegetable products, making it a blood purifier unexcelled in character. One or two taken every night for awhile will produce surprising results.

Dr. King's Pills have been in use for over a century and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.
